Dr. J. H. Terrill, President of the Kansas State Medical and Surgical Institute and Sanitarium, has just returned from New York City, where he has been for the past six weeks, taking another course in chronic diseases and private instructions in electricity. This is the third special course taken by the doctor within the last four years, and he is the only physician in the Southwest who he staken these courses in chronic diseases and electricity, and is consequently the only one familiar with the latest scientific appliances and remedies. The doctor has brought with him from New York City the finest static Gattery made, and has the satisfaction of knowing that there is not one like it west of Chicago. He has also brought back all the other improved batteries and electrical appliances, as well as all of the new surgical instruments and remedies, a great many of which are not to be found in any other office in the whole southwest. The doctor has six different batteries altogether, each and every one the latest and best manufactured. A call at the doctor's office will convince the most skeptical that the above statement is correct.

The following splendid testimonial speaks for itself:

us than of any other people, but they are friendly. There is a class violently antragonistic to the United States. Those composing it are the imperialists, who dislike the Republican institutions in their own country, and regard this country as the great champion of republicanism. Others there are who regard this country with the greatest admiration and are carnest in their friendship. There is no sentiment in the country which would make it difficult for us to cultivate close social and commercial relations, and in dealing with Mexico and other countries south of us we can afford to be very liberal and not require too much from them in return for concessions we might make; for any foothold our commerce eres in these countries will be to our lasting advantage as well as of ultimate benefit to them.

"I am an earnest protectionist, but I do not think that the principles of protection apply to our intercourse with other countries on this continent. If there were no custom houses between this country and the republics south of us, it would be worth hundreds of militions of dellars to us. Absolute free trade on this continent would be greatly to our advantage and at the same time greatly to the advantage of the other republics participating in it. This condition is impracticable at this time, however, as all those other countries are in need of revenues derived from their customs duties. It is practicable to so adjust the matter as to give us in return for liberal concessions to those countries an advantage which would be of value to us and at the same time not materially reduce the revenues of the other countries of our reciprocity treaties with other countries of our reciproci

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 -R. G. Dun & Co.'s reekly review of trade says:

"The announcement that gold would be exported today, though not in large mount, has not necessarily as much meaning as many supposed. Foreign exchange does not yet justify exports, and mevements not warranted by the state of exchange may be due to temporary and trifling influences. The condition of business throughout the country appears to be excellent, with the volume of tradegreater than in any previous year. Wheat is comparatively inactive, with 1 cent decline. Corn and oats are unchanged, with small transactions. Pork products are higherpork $1,25 per barrel and land $2 of a cent. Coffee is also stronger by $4 cent. The condition of the great industries is decidedly favorable. In general manufactures promise to have no "between seasons." The woolen mills are still busy, and sales greater than a year ago, with small stocks. The cotton industry is thriving everywhere. The fron market remains from, with large orders for structural products. "Money has been steady at 4 per cent. the treasury having added slightly to the circulation by isating $500,000 more in notes. Exports here for three weeks fall 17 per cent. below last year's. Imports are much larger, but last year's excess of exports in November was so vast that some excess is probable this year. Stocks have been weaker, declining 50 cents to $1.00 per share, but there is no sign of especial disturbances.
